NO STAY FOR COL. GEBHARD.

THE NEW YORK CLUB NOT ENJOINED FROM EXPELLING HIM.

Judge Barrett Decides That the Question Primarily One of Houor Between Gen elemen-The Club Tribunal the Proper One-Of the Opinion That Counsel Should Be Allowed to Appear for the Defense.

Judge Barrett gave a decision to-day in Dol. Edward Gebhard's suit to enjoin the New York Club from expelling him. The permanent injunction is denied and the temporary stay dissolved with costs.

In his decision, Judge Barrett says:

The injunction is asked upon an inaccurate conception of the real dispute between the plaintiff and the club. It is not a question of the character or propriety of the plaintiff's bill, but one of honor between gentlemen. The charge, in substance, is that the plaintiff having obtained a favorable audit of his accounts upon a distinct promise that he would subsequently recast it so as to meet the approval of the Board, has violated his pledge, refused either to recast the bill or to restore the original status, and has retained the money, even after the Board's reclasion of the andit.

It is also charged that this repudiation of an honorable understanding was aggravated by evasion with regard to the pledge itself and by the recall, is an unseemly manher, of a letter upon the subject addressed by the plaintiff to the president of the club. It surely needs no extended discussion to point out that the issue raised by the plaintiff's carnest denial of these charges is an appropriate one to be heard by the club itself under its constitution and by-laws.

These are questions of honor between gentle-In his decision, Judge Barrett says:

out that the issue raised by the plaintiff's carnest denial of these charves is an appropriate one to be heard by the club itself under its constitution and by-laws.

These are questions of honor between gentlemen, with which the courts have primarily nothing to do. Now, surely the board may lawfully say that it constders the conduct of the plaintiff, should the charges be proved, as dangerous to the weifare of the club. It certainly would be dangerous to the charges be proved, as dangerous to the weifare of the club. It certainly would be dangerous to the character of any association of gentlemen to have among them a member who has secured money, however honestly earned by dishonorable means, and who retains it even legally, by discrediting a fellow member's word and repudisting his own.

A Court of Equity will undoubtedly see to it that the club proceeds in accordance with the principles of natural justice. What the plaintiff asks is that there shall be no hearing at all, and that he shall retain his membership untried, by mere force of our injunction.

It will not do to say that because the original dispute was with the club liself, the Board of Directors is incompetent to try a question of honor and veracity growing out of that dispute. Nor can the plaintiff disqualify his constitutional judges by gratutiously or without specific proof assailing their impartiality. It is this club tribunal and this alone that he contracted for upon questions of club discipline when he signed the constitution. But the plaintiff's charges are fully met by the opposing papers. Further, the judgment of the Board of Directors is not final. The question of a fair hearing can only be solved when all the proceedings thereon are before us. Upon the hearing the plaintiff can object to any particular member of the Board, and if good and aufficient reasons for his challenge are furnished the member my retire. If he remains the evasion can subsequently be weighed when the Court issaked to roinstate, moor the class the point effectually,

When Col. Gebhard obtained an injunction restraining the New York Club from expelling him, one of his principal charges was that a member of the Governing Committee was opposed to him because he had caught him cheating at cards. In his complaint he charged Nat Whitman with the offense. Mr. Whitman, who is a reputable business man of the firm of Lesser, Whitman & Co., became very much incensed at the charge and asked the club to appoint a committee to investigate. The club did, and instructed its secretary to send Col. Gebhard the following letter. This and Mr. Gebhard's reply are subjoined:

Mr. Geomard's reply are subjoined:

Mr. Vdeward Gebhard.

DEAR SIR: I am instructed to notify you to appear before the Board of Direction of the New York Yacht Club at a meeting to be held at the club-house on Monday, the 14th of November, 1887, at 8.30 P. M., there to prove and substantiate the charge made by you against Mr. Nathaniel Whitman of cheating at cards.

Your's respectfully,

Nov. 8, 1887. HENRY C. WILLS, Secretary.

Not. 8, 1887. Henry C. Wills, Secretary.

Siz: I have the honor to acknowledg the receipt of your communication dated Nov. 8 and delivered to me on the lith inst. I am advised that the charge made by me against Mr. Whitman therein referred to was made in a lezal pleading and was privileged, and that as such charge did not specify that said act was committed in the club said such charge was made outside of the club listelf, the club has no jurisdiction over the matter, and I therefore deny the right of the Board of Direction to notify me to appear before them in relation thereto and shall not obey such instruction, but shall submit your letter with the reply to Judge Barrett as a violation or evacion of the injunction order heretofore served upon the New York Club and its President.

If you attempt to proceed in this matter after the receipt of this letter and do any act prejudicial to me in any manner I shall seek legal redress.

Yours,

Mr. Wells, Secretary New York Club.

After the close of his address in Steinway Hall last night, Dr. McGlynn was met by a reporter for The Evening World, who asked him if it were true that he was going abroad.

"I have received from friends of Mr. George in England and Scotland," Dr. Mc-Glynn replied." pressing invitations to go to those countries and address the people on the land tax doctrine, and I contemplate making the journey in January or February, but there is nothing definitely settled about it vet."

there is nothing definitely settled about it yet."

"I do not consider it wise to do so in the present state of affairs. I do believe that the land tax remedy is best for that country, but its advocacy would be met at the present time with a strong opposition on the part of the leaders of the proprietary system, and I think I could accomplish more among the people in England and Scotland. Mr. George made but two addresses in Ireland during his sojourn, and then, I understand, he was threatened with suppression by some of Mr. Davitt's friends."

"Then you do not think the proprietary system is good one for Ireland?"

"It is not. I think that it would be even worse than the present landlordism. It has been tried in Belgium, and the people are worse off to-day than ever. I think I can accomplish more among the working classes in England and Scotland than I can by going into Ireland and inviting opposition and a controversy. I shall not remain away more than a few weeks if I go abroad as I expect."

The receiver was appointed on Saturday on the petition of Henry V. Butler, jr., of Paterson, a stockholder and former president and manager of the company. It is the initial step towards straightening the accounts of the company, which, since the disappearance of President David Scott, of the firm of Vernon Brothers & Co., were said to be embarrassed.

At the office of the American National Exchange Bank, which is said to be the principal creditor of the company, holding about $70,000 of its paper, the appointment was favored for the same reason. It is believed there that the company at Paterson will continue work, and

FRICK'S TALK LIKE FIELDEN'S.

Pittsburgers Indignant Over the Anarchis ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.-A good deal of indignation is felt to-day over the Anarchist meeting here yesterday. It is noticed that a portion of Frick's harangue yesterday was almost identical with Fielden's advice here in almost identical with Fielden's advice here in February, 1886. Frick said: "I believe, if we want to shake off the oppression of the capitalists—these bloodhounds of human society—then, I say, we want to use force in any shape or form, and the sooner we use it the better it will be for all of us."

This sentiment was loudly applauded. The meeting resolved to drape the hall for thirty days as a sign of mourning for the executed Anarchists, and to set apart the 11th of November as a day of sacred commemoration.

Saturday's Imperial and Royal Gazette pubishes the following:

" According to news from San Remo there s, unhappily, no longer any doubt that the nalady of His Imperial and Royal Highness the Crown Prince has in reality the nature of carcinoma. * Trustworthy information as to further treatment will only be possible after Dr. Moritz Schmidt, who was sent to San Remo by command of the Kaiser, shall have made his verbal report here."

LATER-The report made to-day by Prof. Schmidt to the Kaiser leaves no doubt as to the cancerous nature of the Crown Prince's malady. For the present, however, there is no thought of an operation or of the patient's removal from San Remo to Berlin.

The report made a sad impression upon the Kaiser, whose spirits are necessarily low, but physically his physicians are thoroughly satisfied with his state of health.

LONDON'S DEFEATED MOB.

Angry at the Police and Arranging for Another Sunday Meeting.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD.] LONDON, Nov. 14.—Thousands of people in this great city did not know that there was almost a riot last evening until they read it in the newspaper this morning. New Yorkers who followed the description I sent to THE WORLD last night know as much about the trouble as does the newspaper reader in

To-day the promptness of the police is commended by people and press. Undoubtedly it was intended as a test case and the guardians of the public peace proved themselves equal to the emergency. A little foresight is worth a "heap" of hind sight, and Sir Charles Warren has shown his clearheadedness in having the militia ready for an mergency.

The police are making the rounds of the hospitals to-day trying to ascertain the number of people injured and their names. It will not exceed the estimates sent last night. So far as can be learned, about thirty people applied at public pharmacies and hospitals to have wounds in the head dressed, which were evidently the result of a policeman's club. A dozen policeman were more or less injured in the scrimmage.

The only probably fatal case, so far as reported, is the lad at St. Thomas's Hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain. He was hurt in the charge on the Clerkenwell mob. The police are not yet all gone from Trafalgar Square, though the majority of the military returned to their barracks soon after nightfall. Three hours after the row the streets of London were as quiet as they ever are. The Radicals are very angry and much excited over the repulse and are arranging for another attempt at a meeting next Sunday.

The police still guard Trafalgar Square, though there is no prospect of a renewal of the rioting before next Sunday.

The preparations made by the rioters yes terday were very extensive. A wagon load of arms was captured near Waterloo Bridge this morning. The Prince of Wales sent food to the police on guard last night and personally thanked them.

Stanford, through an agent, who accuses her of selling to Mr. Stanford for $10,000 some Central Pacific stock to which the indorsement was forged. In default of $15,000 ball she and her little girl were locked up.

The little girl was taken seriously ill yesterday in prison. The poor child lay meaning and imploring her mother to take her from the dark, damp cellar, known as the city prison. Finally the Chief of Police consented that mother and child should take a drive and afterward on the certificate of a physician allowed Clara Belle to go home and stay under surveillance. The baby got worse as the carriage neared the home and the mother also became quite ill. The Doctor says she was taken with successive hemborrages which have increased in violence, and her condition is now critical.

Last evening Swain, her paramour, who is supposed to have been the real forger of her certificates left suddenly for Council Bluffs carrying several trunks.

The police have the theory that Clara Belle would have joined him in his flight if it had been possible. Undoubtedly she will obtain bail to-day.

Naturally Kentucky, Tennessee and even New Jorsey had adherents, but the bulk of epinion was that some youngster foslied in Californa next spring will be the winner, and that the sire will be Mr. Haggin's Australian horse Dareb n. Nassau street, made an assignment at 2.15 o'clock this afternoon to H. H. Chittendon. The firm has been one of the leading bear houses in the market and was caught beyond hope by the recent advance in prices. It was rumored early in the afternoon that a bear house was in trouble, but it was mid later that friends had come to the front to help it out of its difficulties. It was not known that the firm was that of A. S. Hatch & Co. until they sent a notice to the Stock Exchange that they were unable to meet their obligations and would be compelled to suspend.

Mr. Hatch said to an Evening World re-

Mr. Hatch said to an Evenno World reporter that it was impossible for him to give even a rough estimate of his liabilities. He had no obligations outstanding in the Exchange, and hoped that he would be able to resume business in a short time.

It was learned from other sources that the firm was short of Reading. It was also ascertained that the house had called into a conference this morning representatives of several bear houses, who made a partial promise to help the disabled firm out of its trouble, but for some reason the negotiations fell through and suspension was found to be necessary.

The firm of A. S. Hatch & Co. is the successor to the old firm of Fisk & Hatch, which went down in the panic of 1884, when Grant & Ward, the Marine Bank and many other financial houses were wrecked. Mr. Hatch, the senior partner of the firm, was President of the Newark Savings Bank, which also went to pieces in that year.

Mr. Hatch was one of the leading prometers and chief mainstays of the Jerry McAuley Oremorne Mission.

In the assignment preferences amounting to $2,000 are given in favor of Mary Y. Chittenden.
